Thank you for purchasing this eBook. These worksheets come from Standards Based Grammar: Grades 3, 4 and 5 and are organized in a way to maximize learning.

Objective: The purpose of this book is to help young students learn to identify the parts of sentences, identify types of sentences, and be able to write strong sentences.

Students will begin to accomplish this objective by learning to identify the parts of a sentence. Next, they will learn to recognize common mistakes made by emerging writers. Finally, they will practice writing strong sentences that follow several sentence structures. For even more practice writing stronger sentences, try Writing Tricks Plus a book that shows students sixteen “tricks” for writing stronger sentences.

Introduction:

Whether you are writing a story, essay, report, or research paper, the quality of your writing begins with the sentence. The ability to write strong sentences as well as the ability to write a variety of sentence types is at the heart of all writing. The purpose of this book is to help young students learn to identify the parts of sentences, identify types of sentences, and be able to write strong sentences themselves. Here is how this book is organized:

The first section begins with an overview of the four basic types of sentences: Declarative, Interrogative, Exclamatory, and Imperative. This is a throwback to the old standards that have young students look at the ways in which sentences are used. Personally, I begin with the second unit since the overview is served while looking at the parts of a sentence. However, there is some value in front loading students with this information. Also, there is some value in modeling the four types of sentences. Thus, for the very young students, this is not a bad way to begin.

The second section is actually the mini-book Sentence Fragments and Run-ons offered at Teachers Pay Teachers. It shows students how to identify the parts of a sentence. The students will look at what makes up a sentence and learn to identify common mistakes made by emerging writers. By the time students finish this section, they should have a solid grasp of sentence writing.

The final section helps students learn to write stronger sentences. Here, students learn that it is possible to write longer sentences as long as all the parts of the sentence are used properly. The students begin by reviewing the simple sentence. Next, students are shown how to put two simple sentences together to make a compound sentence. Finally, the students learn to add a dependent clause to a sentence to make complex sentences. This is a great way to end the students’ study of sentence writing.

Name: _____

Complex Sentences #2

Directions: Write “Dependent Clause” under the dependent clause and “Independent Clause” under the independent clause. Circle the subordinate conjunction.

1. The mailman wouldn't deliver our mail after my dog bit him in the leg.

Independent ClauseDependent Clause
2. Because we were all so tired, we decided to go home early.
3. Unless we do all of our homework, we won't be able to play.
4. My dog waited at the door for us until we got home.
5. Although none of us wanted to leave, we had to be home before midnight.
6. If Charlie doesn't stop teasing that dog, the dog is going to bite him.
7. We took pictures while the monkeys swung from the trees.
8. Whenever my sister gets in trouble, my dad makes her weed the garden.
9. Once school starts, you need a pass to get into your class.
10. Before you accuse someone of stealing your pencil, make sure it isn't just lost.
11. I had to go to the dentist because my back tooth started to hurt.
12. After I finished my project, I asked my dad to check it for mistakes.
13. If I had hit the ball five more feet, it would have been a homerun.
14. We could not go to the movies until my baby sister woke up from her nap.
15. Alice played the piano while Mary played her flute.

Extensions

Obviously, the goal of these worksheets is to have students write strong sentences. These worksheets will help give the students confidence to write good sentences and give them the ability to self-correct when they make mistakes. With this in mind many of the worksheets require that the students practice the skills taught within an actual writing situation. The extensions will give them immediate practice and help them see the practical application of what they've learned.

after because before if once unless when wherever whether while

Enjoy!

Subjects #1

Name: _____

Subject: The who or what of the sentence.

To find the subject of any sentence, ask yourself, “What is the who or what of the sentence?”

Example: The bird flew away.

Who or what is this sentence about? Bird

When the cat came around, the bird flew away.

Is the subject cat or bird? Remember, this sentence is still about the bird. It is about what the bird did when the cat came around. Therefore, the subject is still “bird”.

I. Subjects: Who or What?

Directions: Is each subject below a who or a what? Write “who” or “what” next to each word.

_____ 1. Mrs. Garcia

_____ 2. ice

_____ 3. (it)

_____ 6. they

_____ 7. hammer

_____ 8. button

Predicates

Name: _____

Predicate: What the subject is or does.

To find the predicate of any sentence, ask yourself, “What is the subject doing?” or “Is the subject something?”

Example #1: The bird flew away.

What did the bird do? It “flew away”

When the cat came around, the bird flew away.

What did the bird do? It “flew away when the cat came around”

Example #2: The children are happy.

Are the children doing anything? No.

Are the children something? Yes, they “are happy”.

Remember: If you see the words “is, are, was, were, or am”, then the predicate is explaining what the subject IS.

Directions: 1. Circle the subject in each sentence. 2. Underline the predicate in each sentence. 3. Write “Is” on the line if the predicate explains what the subject is. Write “does” if the predicate explains what the subject does.

Examples:

_____ does _____ The bird flew away when the cat came around.

_____ does _____ When the cat came around, the bird flew away.

Is or Does? (Be sure to ask, “What did the subject do?”)

_____ Is _____ 1. Mrs. Garcia is my teacher at Elliot School.

Simple Sentences Finding Subjects and Predicates #3

The Predicate in Two Parts

Sentence: The students went inside after recess.

What is the predicate? “went inside after recess.”

What if we move “after recess” to the beginning? Is it still part of the predicate?

YES!!!

After recess the students went inside.

The predicate is now in two parts. Watch for these in the worksheet below.

I. Finding the Subject and Predicate

Directions: Circle the subject. Underline the complete predicate.

Example: When I dropped it, the ball rolled down the hill.

1. After lunch, the class goes to the library.
2. The water is warm in the summer.

Complex Sentences #1

You've already learned that a clause has a subject and a verb.
There are two kinds of clauses:

1. An independent clause 2. A dependent clause

Dependent Clause: A dependent clause has a subject and a verb. However, it has NO complete thought. It needs an independent clause. Therefore, it is dependent on the independent clause.

Example: After Tyler called his friend. . . . Subject = Tyler Verb = Called Independent Clause: An independent clause has a subject, verb, and a complete thought. It is a sentence.

Example: He met him at the park.

Simple Sentence: A simple sentence only has a subject and a complete predicate.

Examples: The dog barked. / The big, hairy dog with sharp teeth barked at the mailman.

Complex Sentence: A dependent clause needs an independent clause. When you put the two together, you have a complex sentence.

Examples: When the mailman arrived, the dog barked.

Dependent clause Independent Clause

Subordinate Conjunctions: Subordinate conjunctions connect a dependent clause with an independent clause. Here are some examples:

after although because before if once unless until whenever while
