About This Book

For years I've been looking for a grammar program that teaches the dozens of basic grammar rules my upper elementary school students need to know. Their lack of basic grammar skills left me with the feeling that they had to be seeing the rules I was teaching for the very first time. The blank stares I received when mentioning words like "possessive nouns" and "subject-verb agreement" had to mean that the teachers from my students' previous grades had never taught them. However, I soon realized, when reviewing grammar concepts only months after teaching them, I would receive those same blank stares again.

So what's the problem? Obviously I did not teach the concepts correctly, right? Maybe. I can say that many of my students would receive an A on most of my grammar tests. They could identify grammar concepts in worksheets and in Daily Oral Language. Unfortunately, these skills were not being transferred into their written and spoken language.

As a result, I have modified my grammar program every year of my teaching career for fourteen years. I have looked for a comprehensive grammar program that would help all of my students apply and retain the grammar concepts they need in order to speak and write effectively. I've used grammar programs provided by literature companies. I've spent hundreds of dollars on workbooks that teach specific concepts. I've spent hours creating worksheets to help my students master the English language. Despite all of this, I remained frustrated with the lack of progress my students were making in grammar.

What I wanted was a program that would help identify every skill my students should know by the end of the year. Also, I wanted to identify the skills my students should have mastered by the time they arrived in my class. Finally, I wanted to know what skills my students would be required to know in future grades so that I could introduce them to these concepts. It has become painfully clear that grammar is so complex that many students need a systematic program that allows them to master certain skills while preparing them for mastery of other skills. For students to master basic grammar, teachers of many grade levels will need to work together and create a plan.

The purpose of this book is to give teachers the plan they need to achieve the goals listed above. Grammar standards from grades three through eight (from the National Language Arts Framework) have been collected in an attempt to identify the basic skills our students need to master. In addition, extensive research has been done in an effort to identify specific lessons that will help build students' communication skills. As a result, not only does this book meet the national language arts standards for grammar, it goes far beyond.

Another benefit of this book is that it is systematic. It begins with the most basic of concepts and builds as you move through the units. Lower grades, or classes with students who are behind, can spend more time on certain concepts, while the upper grades can move more rapidly to get to the more difficult concepts. Furthermore, teachers can feel confident that the students are mastering the skills at their grade level while preparing them for instruction in the future.

You now have a fantastic system that will help build your students' language skills. With just fifteen to twenty minutes a day, students of all levels will grasp English like they never have before. English language learners, students with learning difficulties, and children who live in homes where English is not modeled correctly will benefit tremendously as they are taught English one step at a time. This program gives them a clear focus for the attainment of basic grammar. This is the ambition and the goal of Standards Based Grammar.

Using This Book

Below is a list of the special features in this book. If this is your primary grammar program, here is the basic procedure for the program:

- A. Review each worksheet prior to the lesson. Focus on getting the students to understand the vocabulary. Begin each lesson by reviewing the vocabulary from the previous lesson.
- B. Make sure students complete every journal extension. This helps students practice each grammar skill within the context of actual writing situations.
- C. Do test review worksheets and Literature Scavenger Hunts to prepare for each test.
- D. Give the unit assessments. Correcting these can be time consuming. Many teachers correct these as a class.
- E. Decide what you consider “Mastery”. Record “Mastery” or “Non-Mastery” on the Parent Checklist for each student.
- F. Transfer information from Parent Checklists to the students’ Student Checklist. Your students can now take home their test and Parent Checklist.
- G. Optional: Check off each skill taught on the Teacher Checklist. This will help you keep track of topics covered.

Features

Grammar Standards Teacher Checklist

1. The Teacher Checklist allows the teacher to check off each standard after it has been taught. This is especially helpful if you do not teach the chapters in order or if you are using this book as a supplement. By doing this you are assured to cover every standard required for your grade level.
2. After each assessment you can keep a list of students who have “Mastery” and “Non-Mastery” of each standard. This will give you an idea of which standards need greater attention throughout the year. Additionally, this will provide wonderful feedback for future teachers. By making copies of this worksheet at the end of the year for future teachers, they will be well aware of the standards that give their new students problems.

Student Worksheets

1. Concepts are taught on the first worksheet of each standard. The worksheets that follow allow practice in order to achieve mastery. However, it is crucial that you prepare ahead of time to deliver appropriate instruction of each concept.
2. The lessons on the worksheets are meant to be a springboard for your discussions about the grammar concepts. Most lessons can be reviewed quickly and taught with little preparation.

Features (Continued)

3. It is important that students have a chance to practice at home. Many worksheets have enough practice activities for the students to complete half at school and half as homework.
4. More worksheets may be required to achieve your goal of mastery. This program allows you to systematically identify when to teach a concept and when more help is required.
5. If more practice worksheets are needed, many teachers use the worksheets from their district's language arts program. Organize these worksheets based on where they are found in Standards Based Grammar.

Extensions

1. Many worksheets have “extensions” at the bottom. These are journal activities that help reinforce the concepts within the context of writing. This is an excellent way to help solidify the grammatical skills in the minds of the students.
2. In most cases, there is an extension on every other worksheet. Use the extension during your students' journal time, give it as homework, or complete it during class as an additional grammar activity.

Tests and Assessments

1. Every skill in each unit is assessed. Use the tests to keep track of student progress.
2. You can use whatever scale you feel is appropriate to grade the tests. For the difficult units, it is recommended that the standard grading scale be relaxed. One suggestion is to make the highest score an A, while the other students' grades are lowered from there.

Parent Checklists

1. This is a way for you to keep the parents involved in the progress of their child. After each test, check off the skills that have been mastered and the skills that have not been mastered. Send it home with the students.
2. This gives the parents the opportunity to practice these skills at home with their child. It may be helpful to direct the parents to a local teacher supply store where workbooks are available. Also, you can prepare packets of materials to send home for further practice.

Features (Continued)

3. In many cases, “Non-Mastery” may be checked for many or all of the skills taught. It is important that the parents understand that the goal of this program is to achieve mastery. While students may have a general understanding of a concept, mastery means a complete understanding and the ability to use the skill in the context of speaking and writing. Therefore, many parents might panic when they see so many skills marked “Non-Mastery.” It may be helpful to put the students’ test grade on the checklist to help ease the parents’ anxiety. The parents will know that their child may not have mastered many concepts, but a C on the test will help them understand that their child is making progress.

Literature Scavenger Hunts

Train your students to review grammar even when you are not studying grammar. By doing the Literature Scavenger Hunts, students learn to find grammar and punctuation skills within professional writing.

Simply have your students use any reading book to find samples of the grammar concepts that you have been studying. The worksheet will guide them. At times, some grammar skills are difficult to find, even for the best of students. Typically, if the students find most of the skills on each worksheet, credit should be given.

Parts of Speech

Exercise #1 - If you haven't learned the parts of speech by now, here's your chance. The next few activities will help you memorize them. If you memorize them well, the rest of the units in this book will be much easier to learn.

Take this practice test to see how much you know. Fill in the blanks with the correct words.

1. Noun – A noun names a _____, _____, or _____.

List three examples: _____, _____, _____

2. Pronoun – A pronoun takes the place of a _____.

List three examples: _____, _____, _____

3. Verb – A verb shows _____ or states a _____.

4. Adjective – Adjectives describe _____. They answer the questions:

_____? / _____? / _____?

Big car

Two cars

Several cars

5. Adverb – Adverbs describe _____, _____, and other _____.

For the teacher:

Below are the answers to the pretest. The next section asks the students to draw pictures and memorize sentences that will help them remember the parts of speech. The instructions give the students flexibility to draw the pictures any size they wish. You may want to give them specific guidelines that fit the needs of your classroom. For example, if you would like to use the pictures as bulletin board displays, the students will need to draw larger pictures. Below is a sample format:

Nouns	Pronouns
Picture of a Clown at a Circus, in a Ring	Picture of a Professional Clown at a Circus in a Ring
The clown went to the circus was in a ring: person, place, or thing.	He performed his routine inside it .

Answers to Exercise #1

Definitions

Noun – A noun names a person, place, or thing. boy, school, ball.

Pronoun – A pronoun takes the place of a noun. he, me, it

Verb – A verb shows action or states a fact. He hit the ball. (action)
He is tall. (fact)

Adjective – Adjectives describe nouns. They answer the questions:

What kind ?	/	How many ?	/	How much ?
Big car		Two cars		Several cars

Adverb – Adverbs describe verbs, adjectives, and other adverbs.
They answer the questions:

How ?	When ?	Where ?	To What Extent ?
ran slowly	ran early	ran there	ran too slowly

Preposition – A preposition connects one word in a sentence to another word in the sentence.

Example: She walked into the room. Into connects walked to room.

Conjunction – Conjunctions are connecting words. and, but, or

Interjections – Interjections are words or groups of words that express emotion.
An exclamation point (!) should always follow an interjection.

Examples: Wow! You're cool! Oh my goodness! I lost!

Exercise #2 – Memory Tricks for the Parts of Speech

Thank you for previewing Standards Based Grammar: Grade 4.

Adjective – An adjective describes a noun. They answer the questions:

What kind ? / How much ? / How many ?

Memorize: “ The three, big adjectives cost how much? Several dollars ! ”

The word “three” represents How Many? “Big” represents What Kind? and “Several” represents How Much?

Draw someone selling adjectives. In the picture, have someone who looks surprised about the cost to the adjectives.

Adverb – Adverbs describe verbs, adjectives, and other adverbs.

They answer the questions: How ? When ? Where ? To What Extent ?

Memorize this chant: “Mr. Adverb:

How will he go?

When will he go?

Where will he go?

Angrily, I told too many people today, “I don’t know? ”

How, When and Where help remind you that adverbs answer these questions. “Too” is in the sentence to help remind you that “To what extent” is also answered by adverbs.

Finally, “Today” answers the question “When?”

Draw someone becoming angry because three people are asking him the questions: How? When? and Where?

Common and Proper Nouns #4

Directions: In the story below, circle all the common nouns. Cross out all the proper nouns and rewrite them with the correct punctuation below.

In the old west there's a story about a boy named the licorice kid. He may have been only ten years old, but he was the roughest, toughest, meanest hombre to walk the small desert towns of new mexico. Nobody knows where he came from, but many people say he just appeared one day out of a dusty wind coming down from texas. Riding on his trusty steed, buttercup, the licorice kid roams the vast fields of albuquerque rescuing strangers in need.

He earned his nickname one dry, hot day when the town bully, pokemon pete, returned from ballet camp. Pokemon pete immediately rounded up all the kids in the neighborhood and started forcing them to do ballet moves between the rolling tumbleweeds at sunflower park. Suddenly, there was the crack of a whip. It was the licorice kid, and he didn't look happy.

Pokemon pete, his braces gleaming in the blazing sun, squinted at the kid daring him to make his move. The kid squinted back and ripped a bite off his long red licorice whip. As Adverbs or Prepositions?

#1

Many prepositions can also be used as adverbs. How can you tell the difference?

Prepositions: They connect one word in a sentence to another word in a sentence. Therefore, a preposition is ALWAYS used in a phrase.

in the house before the game after the bell

Adverbs: They answer the questions where, when, how, and to what extent. They are NOT used in a phrase. They answer a question for another word in the sentence.

We walked in. Where did we walk? in
He did this before. When was this done? before

Directions: On the line to the left, tell whether the underlined word is an adverb or a preposition. If it is an adverb, write the question it answers. If it is a preposition, write the phrase.

Adverb	Where	1. Everyone heard the noise and looked up .
Preposition	up the street	2. We walked up the street.
_____	_____	3. They traveled over the mountains.

Subjects and Predicates

For the Teacher:

For many fourth graders, thinking about subjects and predicates is a new way of looking at sentences. Before doing any of these worksheets, the teacher needs to go over the definitions of subjects (the who or what of the sentence) and predicates (what the subject is or does). Once they understand the definitions, the worksheets will give them examples of subjects and predicates in action. By finding subjects and predicates within simple sentences, the students will be ready to write more complex sentences without the fear of creating run-ons.

Introduce the Idea:

Part I – The Subject

1. Write a short sentence on the board or on sentence strips.
2. Ask the students to find the subject of the sentence.
3. Add adjectives and prepositional phrases to the sentence. Ask the students if the subject has changed.
4. Put phrases in front of the sentence. Ask the students if the subject is the same.
5. Review the definition of a subject:
 - a. Have the students say “subject” five times.
 - b. Chant “Who or what the sentence is about.”

Example “A” for the students:

1. The dog barked.
2. Subject = dog
3. The big, ugly dog barked at the mailman. The subject is still “dog.”
4. In the front yard the big, ugly dog barked at the mailman. The subject is still “dog.”
5. “Dog” is always the “who” or “what” of the sentence.

Example “B” for the students:

1. The dress is pretty.
2. Subject = dress
3. The dress in the window is pretty. The subject is still “dress”.
4. The pink flowery dress in the window is pretty. The subject is still “dress.”
5. “Dress” is always the “what” of the sentence.

Part II – The Predicate

Repeat steps #1- #5 again. This time focus on the predicate. Now that the students know the subject, they can figure out what the subject is or does.

1. Write a short sentence on the board or on sentence strips.
2. Ask the students to find the predicate of the sentence.
3. Add adjectives and prepositional phrases to the sentence. Ask the students if the predicate has changed.
4. Put phrases in front of the sentence. Ask the students if the predicate is the same.
5. Review the definition of a predicate:
 - a. Have the students say “predicate” five times.
 - b. Chant “What the subject is or does.”

Simple Sentences Finding the Subject

Subject: The “who” or “what” of the sentence.

To find the subject of any sentence, ask yourself, “What is the who or what of the sentence?”

Example: The bird flew away.

Who or what is this sentence about? Bird

When the cat came around, the bird flew away.

Is the subject cat or bird? Remember, this sentence is still about the bird. It is about what the bird did when the cat came around. Therefore, the subject is still “bird.”

Helping Verbs #2

Name: _____

Helping Verbs: Helping verbs help the main verb give a more accurate meaning.

Verb Phrase: The helping verb(s) joins the main verb to make a verb phrase.

Examples:

Helping Verb(s)	+	Main Verb	=	Verb Phrase
are		swimming		are swimming
will be		going		will be going
may have been		talking		may have been talking

Directions: In each sentence below, put an S above the subject, HV above the helping verb(s), and V above the main verb. Next, write the helping verb, main verb, and the verb phrase on the lines.

	S	HV	V	Helping Verb (s)	Main Verb	Verb Phrase

Contractions as Helping Verbs #2

“Not” is not a verb. It is an adverb. If a helping verb ends in “ n’t ” only the front of the contraction is part of the verb phrase. Leave “not” out of the verb phrase.

Examples:		Helping Verb	Main Verb	Verb Phrase
	can't jump	can	jump	can jump
	hasn't started	has	started	has started weren't ready	were	ready	were ready

Directions: In the sentences below, the helping verbs are hidden inside the contractions. Write the helping verb, main verb, and the verb phrase on the lines.
Be careful, some contractions will not have a helping verb.

	Helping Verb	Main Verb	Verb Phrase
1. We won't drink this without sugar.	will	drink	will drink
2. He's drawing a picture for the yearbook.	_____	_____	_____
